TED LEONSIS

MONUMENTAL SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Ted Leonsis is founder, chairman, majority owner and CEO of Monumental Sports & Entertainment, which owns and operates the Washington Capitals (NHL), Washington Wizards (NBA), Washington Mystics (WNBA), Washington Valor (AHL), Footprint Brands (DTC), Capital City Go-Go (NBA G League) and Capital One Arena in downtown Washington, D.C. The partnership also owns Capital One's Kettler Iceplex training facility and team offices headquarters, and George Mason University's Patriot Arena. Monumental is also co-owner of Mystics, which has community interests in public esports franchise Team Liquid. Ted Leonsis is co-executive chairman of Sportsnet, a Canada-wide network for digital media and over-the-top platforms that allows users to access content whenever and wherever they want.

Monumental and NBC Sports Washington, part of the NBC Sports Group, have developed an advanced media partnership that includes exclusive media rights to the Capitals and Wizards, and new ownership positions in Washington sports network Monumental Sports Network, creating a cross-platform media structure.

Beginning in the fall of 2018, as part of a joint venture with the D.C. mayor's office and Events DC, Monumental will feature sports in a new entertainment and sports facility in what is Southwest Washington, the near-water and behavioral district with Nationals Ballpark nearby for the Wizards and some of the Mystics and Go-Go home games. The arena is part of the St. Elizabeths East Campus redevelopment and is expected to generate significant economic impact, create construction and new job opportunities. The project is designed to be a catalyst for new development in the 11 and Howard and create a destination for residents and visitors.

Mr. Leonsis was elected to the board of governors for the NHL and was an owner of the Washington Mystics of the WNBA. He previously was chairman of the NBA media committee.

SHEILA C. JOHNSON

Co-Chairman, Monumental Sports & Entertainment
President and Managing Partner, Washington Mystics

Sheila C. Johnson is an entrepreneur and philanthropist whose accomplishments span the arenas of hospitality, sports, TV/film, the arts, education, women's empowerment, and community development.

As founder and CEO of Salamander Hotels & Resorts, Ms. Johnson oversees a growing portfolio of luxury properties. The expansion-inspired Salamander Resort & Spa in Middleburg, Virginia, opened in 2003 and has since been recognized as one of the country's finest properties. The collection features three of the top golf resorts in Florida: Innisbrook Resort in Palm Coast, Hampton in Orlando and Innisbrook in Tampa Bay, as well as the new Hyatt-style Resort in Destin, Florida, and the world-renowned in Charleston, South Carolina, which will open in January 2013.

As vice Chairman of Monumental Sports & Entertainment, Ms. Johnson is the only African-American woman to have ownership in the six professional sports teams: the Washington Wizards, the NHL Washington Capitals, and the WNBA Washington Mystics, for which she serves as President and Managing Partner. She also served five years on the Executive Committee of the United States Golf Association.

In addition, Ms. Johnson is a partner in Vestra, the makers of fine bath, body and home products, and in 2012 launched her own collection of beauty scarves, inspired by her global travels. And in 2009, she co-founded Will Capital, a venture capital consortium to support and empower female-led enterprises that can advance transformational social change. She also serves on the board of The Greater Washington Partnership, which seeks to strengthen the region's global position as a center for commerce and innovation.

Ms. Johnson has long been a powerful influence in the entertainment industry, starting with her work as founding partner of Black Entertainment Television. She has served as executive producer of four documentary films, including Holding It, which premiered at the 2008 Tribeca Film Festival; A Powerful Sense, which premiered at the 2009 Tribeca Film Festival; Shi is the Magician; and the other 25, a critically acclaimed portrayal of the 401 ABC cities in Washington DC, which premiered at the 2010 Tribeca Film Festival. She also helped finance the screen actors guild nominated feature film the social, directed by Lee Daniels, and is founder and chair of the Middleburg Film Festival, an annual celebration of independent film that opened to sell-out crowds in October 2012.

A fervent supporter of education and the arts, Ms. Johnson serves on the Board of Governors of Parsons The New School for Design in New York, and is a member of the Leadership Council at Harvard Kennedy School's Center for Public Leadership (CPL). She is also a board member of the Jackie Robinson Foundation, as well as the International African American Museum in Charleston, South Carolina.

From 2008 to 2009, Ms. Johnson served as global ambassador for CARE, a leading humanitarian organization that combats global poverty by empowering women. In recognition of her humanitarian efforts, she was honored with the Eleanor Roosevelt Val-Kill Medal in 2010.

An accomplished violinist, Ms. Johnson received a Bachelor of Arts in music from the University of Illinois, as well as honorary Degrees from numerous other institutions. She lives in Middleburg, VA, is married to the honorable William T. Newman, Jr., and has two children.

Ernie Grunfeld has led the Washington Wizards as team president for the past 15 seasons, using over 40 years of NBA experience as a player, coach and executive. Grunfeld has been one of the most successful executives in the NBA, establishing a list of accomplishments that includes two trips to the NBA Finals, four Eastern Conference Finals appearances, an Atlantic Division title with three different teams (including a thought-dead, 50-win 2004-05 club with the New York Knicks) and consistent success over 19 seasons of at least .500 basketball.

Grunfeld has shaped the current version of the Wizards by drafting and developing the dynamic young core of John Wall, Trevor Ariza and Nene Hilario while supplementing that trio with deals for solid veterans and young players acquired via trade, free agency and through the draft. He also established the leadership of the up-and-coming squad with the hiring of former coach of the Year Flip Saunders. Grunfeld's construction of the roster has the Wizards poised for success now while maintaining room to improve in the future with more deals and drafts in their primes.

The current version of the Wizards have gone 101-167 (.548) over the past two seasons, with three trips to the playoffs. That includes a 43-39 mark during the 2007-08 season, tonight's final remaining at opponent. The 2006-07 season saw the Wizards finish with the highest win total (and scoring average) in franchise history with the 'Hoyas and the highest since the 1978-79 season. It also marked the Wizards' third trip to the Conference Semifinals in four years (a feat only Cleveland, Golden State and San Antonio accomplished), and the team's first division title in 26 years.

Grunfeld joined the Wizards organization on June 30, 2000. In just his second year in Washington (2001-02), the Wizards won a playoff series for the first time in eighteen years with a roster that was largely assembled under his guidance. The most recent season, Grunfeld's Wizards reached 45 regular-season wins (including seven playoff contests) and their fourth consecutive playoff appearance.

In only his first season in the NBA, Grunfeld was an integral part of the Bullets team that won the Atlantic Division title with a 44-38 record. The Bullets went on to upset the Philadelphia 76ers in the first round of the playoffs before losing to the Milwaukee Bucks in the Eastern Conference Semifinals.

Grunfeld's first season as a player-personnel executive in the NBA was in 1980-81 with the Houston Rockets. He was promoted to director of player personnel in 1982 and was instrumental in the Rockets' selection of Ralph Sampson with the first overall pick in the 1983 NBA Draft. Sampson was named Rookie of the Year in 1984 and was selected to the All-Star Game in each of his first five seasons. Grunfeld was also responsible for the selection of Hakeem Olajuwon with the first overall pick in the 1984 NBA Draft. Olajuwon was named Rookie of the Year in 1985 and was selected to the All-Star Game in each of his first 12 seasons. He led the Rockets to the NBA Championship in 1994 and 1995 and was named the NBA Most Valuable Player in 1993 and 1994. He was also named to the All-NBA First Team in 1993 and 1994 and to the All-NBA Second Team in 1995. He was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2008.

Grunfeld was born in New York City on [illegible], 1953. He attended [illegible] High School in [illegible], New York, where he was a standout basketball player. SCOTT BROOKS

Scott Brooks has led the Wizards for the past two seasons after being named as head coach on April 22, 2010. He was compiled a record of 53-84 (.387) with the Wizards, which already ranks third in franchise history in terms of winning percentage and tied for third in total wins in franchise history. Brooks has an overall record of 146-216 (.403) during his nine seasons on the sidelines, ranking tied-12th among active coaches in win percentage and ninth among active coaches in total wins.

Brooks led the Wizards to a 44-38 mark during the 2011-12 season, making the team in the playoff picture despite only 1,868 missed games. He guided that record of player development continued to pay dividends as Trevor Ariza (2009) and Nene Hilario (2010) stepped up with career seasons, while Rookie Jordan Crawford (2010) earned honors for the All-Star team and JaVale McGee (2010) made significant improvements. Brooks was able to combine that consistency with explosive playmakers who were never boring, leading the team to its first playoff appearance since 2008 and helping to win being named Eastern Conference Coach of the month in February after leading the Wizards to an 8-4 record. It was the fifth time in his career that Head of Greater Capital Council with the accolade.

In his first season at the helm, Brooks led the Wizards to a 26-55 record and a playoff berth in the lockout-shortened 2011-12 season. Washington finished 20 games over .500 after going 18-48 the previous season. Under Brooks' guidance, Nene Hilario (2010) and Trevor Ariza (2009) both had career seasons, while Rookie Jordan Crawford (2010) earned honors for the All-Star team and JaVale McGee (2010) made significant improvements. Under Brooks' guidance, Nene Hilario (2010) and Trevor Ariza (2009) both had career seasons, while Rookie Jordan Crawford (2010) earned honors for the All-Star team and JaVale McGee (2010) made significant improvements.

Brooks is the 24th head coach in Wizards/Bullets history and brings a wealth of NBA coaching experience to the organization. Brooks was the head coach of the Oklahoma City Thunder from 2004-05 through 2008-09 where he compiled a 225-213 (.514) record. Under Brooks' guidance, Kevin Durant (2007) and Russell Westbrook (2008) were selected and began their careers in Oklahoma City. The Thunder made the playoffs twice in the Western Conference Finals (2006, 2012) and advanced to the 2012 NBA Finals. He was named the 2nd assistant head coach of the year in 2005.

During his tenure with the Thunder, Brooks led Oklahoma City to five straight postseason appearances and four consecutive northwest Division titles. From 2006-07 through 2008-09, he was the second winningest active coach in the NBA, as the Thunder claimed the Midwest Division title each year.

Brooks guided the Thunder to a 43-win season during 4 their inaugural 2008-09 campaign that saw them defeat Tyrus Duke and Dwight Howard as rookie consecutive seasons, after making 3-0. The Thunder finished the season going 40-25 and in Oklahoma City became just the fourth team in NBA history to go from nine games below .500 at one point in the season to nine games above .500 mark in the season.

In the 2006-07 season, the Thunder finished with the second best record in the NBA at 54-28 and Oklahoma City became one of just two teams (San Antonio) to record a 40-win (.500 winning percentage improvement in 10 wins) in each of the first three seasons, while earning the top record in the Western Conference through the first half of the 2006-07 season. Brooks represented the Thunder by coaching the Western Conference squad in Rookie Challenge. The all-star coaching honor marked the second of Brooks' career (Brooks) and he coach who coached the 2006 all-star Rookie in rotation.

During the 2005-06 season, the Thunder opened the first year in the Western Conference after finishing with a record of 45-37. On the year, Oklahoma City posted the largest point differential in the NBA to make their first success but points per game. Oklahoma City was an average by Jordan Rookie, accounting to points or 30 or more field goals in the year. The Thunder finished the season as the third highest scoring team in the NBA (101.7 points per game) while holding the opposition to the second worst field goal shooting percentage (.453).

At the end of the 2005-06 season, the Thunder became just the second team in NBA history to win 20 or more games in five consecutive seasons. Kevin maintaining a winning percentage of .500 or better in five seasons.

During the 2004-05 season, Brooks guided the Hornets to a western Conference championship and the NBA Finals, after finishing the regular season with a record of 45-36 in the playoffs, the Hornets defeated Dallas, the Los Angeles Lakers and San Antonio before falling to the eventual Champions Miami in five games.

In 2004-05 Brooks led the Thunder to its wins and a spot in the Western Conference Finals. After Oklahoma City surprised playoff series victories over the Denver Nuggets and Memphis Grizzlies, after the seventh appearance of a playoff berth from the season. Earlier in the season, Brooks guided the Thunder to a 23-4 mark in the first 27 games of the regular season.

Brooks received the distinction with numerous awards of the year award after the second season as head coach in Oklahoma City owning his first full year at the helm of the Thunder. Brooks oversaw three of the biggest comebacks in team history. A year after winning 23 games, the Thunder improved the 2006-07 season with a record of 31-51 (.378), the 11 win improvement was tied for the largest increase in NBA history. Brooks was named Western Conference Coach of the Thunder to games into the 1999-00 season and was later named head coach on April 18, 1999 prior to the team's final game of the season. A title after being awarded his first NBA head coaching position, Brooks led the Thunder to their most significant victory of the year in the Hornets season finale, a 21-20 win versus the Los Angeles Clippers at Staples Center.

Prior to his appointment as interim head coach on November 22, 1999 Brooks served as Celtics and the Thunder coaching staff in the start of the 1999-00 season before joining the Thunder (then Seattle Supersonics) organization as an assistant prior to the 1997-98 season. Brooks signed his 1996-97 season working as an assistant coach with the Continental Basketball Association where he began his coaching career began with the Rapid Nuggets, where he served as an assistant coach from 1995 to Brooks helped lead the Nuggets to the playoffs in each of his three seasons on the bench, with the team recording a 151-113 (.572) regular season record.

TONY BROWN

Assistant Coach

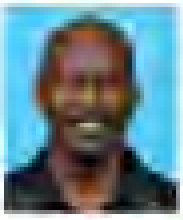
Tony Brown enters his third season as the key assistant on Coach Bradley Beal's staff. He joined the Wizards after two seasons with the Brooklyn Nets, including his role as interim head coach for the last part of the 2014-15 campaign. Brown took over as interim head coach on January 5 after Lionel Hollins was dismissed. With Brown at the helm, the Nets finished 21-36.

Prior to his time in Brooklyn, Brown spent the previous three seasons as an assistant coach with the Golden State Warriors under Nick Carlisle. Brown has also served as an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Clippers (2006-07), Milwaukee Bucks (2002-05), Boston Celtics (1998-02), Toronto Raptors (1995-96), Denver Nuggets (1991-92) and Portland Trail Blazers (1987-1991), in addition to Carlisle for Serbia and Detroit. Brown assisted Mike Dunleavy in Los Angeles and Portland, Larry Brandenward in Milwaukee, Eric Musselman in Boston and Pierre O'Neal in Toronto.

Before his work as an interim head coach in Brooklyn, Brown was hired as a head coach in three games in his career, winning all three, most recently in Sioux Falls (March 19, 2006) while for Brandenward in Milwaukee (November 3, 2007) and prior for Dunleavy in Los Angeles (December 13, 2000). Prior to beginning his coaching career, he was an assistant coach for the Bucks (1994-97).

Brown spent seven seasons (1984-85, 1987-92) as an NBA player with nine teams after being selected with the 82nd pick in the fourth round of the 1982 NBA Draft by the New Jersey Nets. He spent professional season career in 1992-97 with the Nets, where he recorded career totals for points, assists, steals, minutes and games started. In 342 career NBA games with between the Nets, Indiana Pacers, Chicago Bulls, Houston Rockets, Milwaukee Bucks, Los Angeles Lakers, Utah Jazz, Los Angeles Clippers and Seattle SuperSonics, Brown averaged 6.9 points and 2.1 rebounds per game. In addition to his seven seasons in the NBA, Brown also spent time in the Continental Basketball Association and Italy.

The Chicago native played four years at the University of Arkansas under head coach Eddie Sutton. Brown and his wife, Christine, have a daughter, Monica.



ROBERT PACK

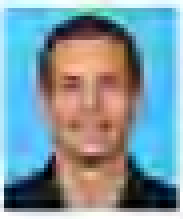
Assistant Coach

Robert Pack enters his fifth season as an assistant coach with the Washington Wizards. Prior to coming to Washington, Pack was an assistant coach with the New Orleans Pelicans for second stint with the organization. Prior to joining New Orleans, Pack served as an assistant coach with the Oklahoma City Thunder and Head Coach Scott Brooks' staff from 2010-11. Pack began his coaching career in New Orleans, serving as an assistant coach during the 2009-10 season before spending three seasons with the Los Angeles Clippers in a similar role.

After going undrafted out of the University of Southern California, Pack received a 13-year NBA playing career in which he averaged 9.8 points, 3.8 assists and 2.2 rebounds in 922 career games with the Portland Trail Blazers, Denver Nuggets, Washington Bullets, New Jersey Nets, Dallas Mavericks, Minnesota Timberwolves and the New Orleans Hornets. Pack appeared in 81 games for the Bullets during the 1993-94 season and averaged 10.1 points, 7.8 assists and 4.4 rebounds per game.

Nicknamed "Pac Man", Pack was a member of the 1991-92 Portland team that advanced to the NBA Finals and was a member of the 1992-93 Denver Nuggets squad that made NBA history as the first No. 8 seed to defeat a No. 1 seed in the first round of the NBA Playoffs. Pack was the runner-up in the 1994 NBA All-Star Slam Dunk Contest in Minneapolis. Upon the conclusion of his NBA playing career, Pack played overseas in Ukraine and Spain from 2004-2005 before pursuing a career in coaching.

A native of New Orleans, Pack played collegiate basketball at the University of Southern California, finishing on the Trojans' all-time assists list (218 in just two seasons), while becoming the fourth player in school history to record both 100 assist seasons. In two years at Southern California, he averaged 15.4 points and 6.5 assists per game.



RYAN RICHMAN

Assistant Coach

Ryan Richman begins his fifth season with the Wizards and fourth as an assistant coach on Scott Brooks' bench. Richman spent his first two seasons with the organization in the video room before transitioning to a role as player development coordinator/assistant coach in Brooks' first year as head coach (2015-17). In that role, he provided player development during pre-practice, pre-game and after-hours sessions while also analyzing game film and holding responsibility for game scouts and preparation. Richman's player development skills have been seen in the development of Bradley Beal and Otto Porter Jr. over the last two seasons, with Beal receiving his first All-Star honor in 2018 and Porter Jr. becoming one of the most consistent three-point shooters in the NBA.

After playing one season at Oklahoma College in Santa Rosa, Springs, NY, Richman transferred to the University of Maryland and started as a four-year player for the women's basketball team under Head Coach Brenda Frese, where he received player development, scouting and film. Richman then worked as a graduate assistant at Maryland under Head Coach Mark Turgeon, where he assisted in day-to-day basketball operations prior to joining the Wizards staff in 2014. During Washington, Richman assisted player development, running on-court drills, pre-game and after-hours sessions, while also recording and analyzing game film with players and holding responsibility for game preparations during one of the best five-year stretches in franchise history (265-183).

A native of West Hartford, CT, Richman owns a bachelor's degree in communication and political and a master's degree in minority and urban education from the University of Maryland.

NAVIN HETTIARACHCHI

Navin Hettiarachchi entered his fourth season as Director of Athletic Performance/Strength and Conditioning for the Wizards. He has been with the team since 2012, serving as an assistant athletic trainer and working to the games, providing treatment to injured and rehabbing athletes.

As Director of Athletic Performance/Strength and Conditioning, Hettiarachchi is responsible for designing and implementing year-round strength, conditioning, flexibility and nutrition programs with the purpose of optimizing the overall athletic performance of the players. Hettiarachchi specializes in addressing the musculoskeletal of athletic performance through management of strength and conditioning exercises and injury prevention techniques, and provides a systematic, results-driven approach to performance training and rehabilitation.

Prior to this position, he served as the Washington Mystics Head Athletic Trainer and Head Strength and Conditioning Coach for nine seasons. His responsibilities included all aspects of medical care, injuries monitoring, rehabilitation and sports performance for the team.

Hettiarachchi has also served as the Head Athletic Trainer for the Sports Therapy and Rehabilitation (STAR) Clinic in Washington, D.C.

He earned his B.S. in Sports Medicine from West Virginia Wesleyan College and a Master's degree in Sports Medicine from The United States Sports Academy and has earned multiple certifications in rehabilitation of musculoskeletal injuries, including Advanced Sports Rehabilitation (ASR) and Spinal Manual Therapy. He also has his Master Certification in Manual Therapy and a graduate diploma in Manipulative Therapy (Dip. MT). Navin is a Performance Enhancement Specialist (PES), a Corrective Exercise Specialist (CES) and a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist (CSCS).

A native of Sri Lanka, Navin currently lives in Washington, D.C. with his fiancée and can often be found on the National Mall playing as many sports as he can—especially cricket, flag football, rugby, soccer, and basketball.

JESSE PHILLIPS

Jesse Phillips began his 3rd season as the team's Director of Player Rehabilitation. He joins the Wizards after spending the previous two (2) years as a physical therapist at Providence Saint Johns Health Center's Performance Therapy where he served as Sports Rehabilitation Supervisor.

Phillips earned his Doctor of Physical Therapy degree and graduated from the Sports Physical Therapy residency at the University of Southern California. During his residency he worked with athletes from Crenshaw High School, West Los Angeles College and the Los Angeles Sports Medicine was selected for a prestigious internship and subsequent position with USC's Integrated performance training, nutrition and athletic training center for elite and professional athletes at the Andrews Institute in Gulf Breeze, FL with NFL and college football players, and other military personnel.

Phillips and his wife, Shakeia, reside in Arlington, VA. Jesse hobbies include coaching, listening, running, lifting weight lifting, and playing sports.

JEFF BANGS

Jeff Bangs entered his second season with the Wizards and First Athletic Trainer. He originally joined the team as an athletic training intern prior to the 2016-17 season and from was promoted to Assistant Athletic Trainer before getting the nod to Athletic Trainer prior to the start of this season. In his current role, Bangs is responsible for game day set up of the athletic office, preparing the visiting teams locker cart, performing rehabilities on athletes when necessary, and distributing and maintaining DPE rooms during all practices. Prior to joining the Wizards organization, Bangs served as an athletic training intern with the Philadelphia Eagles for two seasons, as well as the Miami Heat's Summer League athletic training intern from 2016-18. Bangs attended West Chester University, where he earned a Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training.

This flu season, consider a flu shot designed specifically for adults 65 and older.[1]

TIME TO FISH AT MY FAVORITE SPOT
As you age, your immune system may weaken. Traditional flu shots may not work as well for older adults compared to younger adults.[2,3]
FLUAD is a flu shot for adults 65 and older that contains an immune-enhancing ingredient and is proven to provide a strong immune response to help protect against the flu.[1]
FLUAD®
influenza vaccine, adjuvanted

It's time to ask your doctor or pharmacist about FLUAD

Important Safety Information

What is FLUAD?
FLUAD is a vaccine that helps protect against the flu. FLUAD is for people aged 65 years and older. Vaccination with FLUAD may not protect all people who receive the vaccine.

Who should not get FLUAD?
You should not get FLUAD if you have had a severe allergic reaction to any of the ingredients in the vaccine in the past, including egg protein, or a severe reaction to a previous influenza vaccine.

Who may not be able to get FLUAD?
Tell your health care provider if you:

- Have ever had Guillain-Barré syndrome (severe muscle weakness) after getting a flu shot. The decision to give FLUAD should be made by your health care provider, based on careful consideration of the potential benefits and risks.
- Have an allergy to rubber (latex). FLUAD does not contain latex, but the tip caps of the prefilled syringes contain natural rubber latex, which may cause an allergic reaction in persons sensitive to latex.

What if I have a weakened immune system?
Tell your health care provider if you have problems with your immune system, as your immune response to the vaccine may be reduced.

What are the most common side effects of FLUAD?

- Pain or tenderness where you got the shot
- Muscle aches
- Headache
- Fatigue

These are not all of the possible side effects of FLUAD. You can ask your health care provider for a complete list of possible side effects.

Ask your health care provider for advice about any side effects that concern you. You may report side effects to the Vaccine Adverse Events Reporting System (VAERS) by calling 1-800-822-7967 or by going to http://vaers.hhs.gov.

To report SUSPECTED ADVERSE REACTIONS, contact Seqirus Inc. at 1-855-358-8966 or VAERS at 1-800-822-7967 and http://vaers.hhs.gov.

FLUAD (Influenza Vaccine, Adjuvanted)

Suspension for Intramuscular Injection

2017-2018 Formula

Initial U.S. Approval: 2015

BRIEF SUMMARY:

See package insert for full prescribing information.

1 INDICATIONS AND USAGE

FLUAD is an inactivated influenza vaccine indicated for active immunization against influenza disease caused by influenza virus subtypes A and type B contained in the vaccine. FLUAD is approved for use in persons 65 years of age and older. Approval is based on the immune response elicited by FLUAD. Data demonstrating a decrease in influenza disease after vaccination with FLUAD are not available. [see Clinical Studies (14)]

4 CONTRAINDICATIONS

Do not administer FLUAD to anyone with a history of severe allergic reaction (e.g. anaphylaxis) to any component of the vaccine, including egg protein [see Description (11)], or to a previous influenza vaccine.

5 WARNINGS AND PRECAUTIONS

5.1 Guillain-Barré Syndrome

If Guillain-Barré syndrome (GBS) has occurred within 6 weeks of receipt of prior influenza vaccine, the decision to give FLUAD should be based on careful consideration of the potential benefits and risks. The 1976 swine influenza vaccine was associated with an elevated risk of GBS. Evidence for a causal relationship of GBS with other influenza vaccines is varied. If an excess risk exists, it is probably slightly more than 1 additional case per 1 million persons vaccinated. [see Adverse Reactions (6)]

5.2 Preventing and Managing Allergic Reactions

Appropriate medical treatment and supervision must be available to manage possible anaphylactic reactions following administration of the vaccine.

5.3 Latex

The tip caps of the prefilled syringes contain natural rubber latex, which may cause allergic reactions in latex-sensitive individuals. [see Description (11)]

5.4 Altered Immunocompetence

The immune response in FLUAD in immunocompromised persons, including individuals receiving immunosuppressant therapy, may be lower than in immunocompetent individuals. [see Concurrent Use with Immunosuppressants (7.2)]

5.5 Syncope

Syncope (fainting) may occur in association with administration of injectable vaccines including FLUAD. Ensure procedures are in place to avoid injury from falling associated with syncope.

5.6 Limitations of Vaccine Effectiveness

Vaccination with FLUAD may not protect all vaccine recipients against influenza disease.

6 ADVERSE REACTIONS

6.1 Clinical Trials Experience

Because clinical trials are conducted under widely varying conditions, the adverse reaction rates observed in the clinical trials of a vaccine cannot be directly compared to rates in the clinical trials of another vaccine and may not reflect rates observed in clinical practice.

Safety and adverse reactions were assessed in a multicenter, observer-blind, randomized, controlled study (Study 1) conducted in the United States, Colombia, Panama and the Philippines. The safety analysis set included 9523 FLUAD recipients and 9527 ~~AGRIFLU~~ (Influenza Vaccine) recipients. The enrolled subject population in Study 1 was 65 to 91 years of age (mean 72 years) and 52% were female. Within each treatment group, 83% were Asian, 2% were Caucasian, 15% were Hispanic. The ethnicity of less than 1% each were White, African/African American, Pacific Islander/Hawaiian, or Other.

Solicited local (injection site) and systemic adverse reactions were collected from subjects in Study 1 who completed a memory aid card for seven days following vaccination. The reported frequencies of solicited local and systemic adverse events from Study 1 are presented in Table 1.

Table 1. Percentages of Subjects in 65 Years of Age With Solicited Local and Systemic Adverse Reactions in Days 1-7 After Administration of FLUAD or ~~AGRIFLU~~ or U.S. Licensed Comparator (NCT01562210)

§Statistically non-inferiority of LAIV vaccine defined as not exceeding the upper limit of the 95% confidence interval

Unsolicited Adverse Events (AEs): The clinical safety of FLUAD was assessed in fifteen (15) multicenter, controlled studies. The total safety population in these trials included 19,913 adults 18 years of age and older comprising 9,756 who received FLUAD and 9,745 who received other US licensed influenza vaccines. The percentage of subjects with an unsolicited AE within 30 days following vaccination were similar between vaccine groups (19.9% FLUAD vs. 19.6% other US licensed influenza vaccines).

Serious Adverse Events (SAEs) and Deaths: In Study 1, unsolicited subjects were followed for SAEs and deaths for one year following vaccination (3,673 with FLUAD, 3,673 with US licensed). The percentages of subjects with an SAE were similar between vaccine groups (2.7% FLUAD vs. 2.7% other US licensed). Hospitalizations (1.9% FLUAD vs. 2.0% other US licensed) and deaths (0.3% FLUAD vs. 0.3% other US licensed) were similar between vaccine groups. One year after vaccination, 0.3% of subjects in each group had died. Of these deaths, 11 in the FLUAD group and 12 in the other US licensed influenza vaccine group were considered by the investigator to be related to underlying medical conditions. Of these deaths, 1 in the FLUAD group and 2 in the other US licensed influenza vaccine group occurred within 21 days following study vaccination. There were 19 deaths in the FLUAD group and 18 in the other US licensed influenza vaccine group that occurred within the first 21 days following vaccination.

In 14 additional randomized, controlled studies, SAEs were collected over a 21 to 4-week period in 4 studies, over a 6-week period in 1 study, and over a 6-month period in 9 studies after 23,814 FLUAD, 14,041 US licensed influenza vaccines. The percentages of subjects with an SAE within 30 days (1.1% FLUAD vs. 1.0% other US licensed) or within 6 months (1.7% FLUAD vs. 1.9% other US licensed) were similar between vaccine groups. The percentages of deaths within 30 days (0.2% FLUAD vs. 0.1% other US licensed) or within 6 months (1.0% FLUAD vs. 1.1% other US licensed) were also similar.

Selected Events of Special Interest (SEIs): Rates of new-onset neurological events and immune-mediated diseases were examined in a pool of the 15 randomized, controlled studies over the time periods specified above for SAEs. The percentage of subjects with an SEI at any time after vaccination was similar between vaccine groups (0.9% FLUAD vs. 0.8% other US licensed). There were no notable imbalances for specific SEIs.

Safety of Annual Revaccination: In 4 of the randomized, controlled trials, subjects were followed for SAEs and deaths for 6 months following revaccination (Study 1: FLUAD, 1,637 US licensed [not non-US licensed influenza vaccines]). After the second annual vaccination, the percentages of subjects with an SAE were similar between vaccine groups (0.7% FLUAD vs. 0.9% comparator influenza vaccine). [3] deaths (1 FLUAD, one comparator influenza vaccine) were reported. Causes of death included cardiovascular events, malignancy, trauma, gastrointestinal disorders, and respiratory failure. Consideration of the deaths, including the variable season, timing, dose, vaccination, and underlying medical conditions, do not provide evidence for a causal relationship with FLUAD.

6.2 Postmarketing Experience

The following adverse events have been spontaneously reported during post-approval use of FLUAD in Europe and other regions (see Table):

Because these events are reported voluntarily from a population of uncertain size, it is not always possible to reliably estimate their frequency or establish a causal relationship to the vaccine.

Blood and lymphatic system disorders:
Thrombocytopenia (some cases were severe with platelet counts less than 1,000 per mm³), lymphadenopathy

Skin and subcutaneous tissue disorders:
Extensive swelling of injected limb lasting more than one week, injection site reactions (including bruising, bleeding, swelling, pain, and redness) extending more than 10 cm and lasting more than 1 week)

Immune system disorders:
Allergic reactions including anaphylactic shock, anaphylaxis and angioedema

Musculoskeletal and connective tissue disorders:
Muscular weakness

Nervous system disorders:
Encephalomyelitis, Guillain-Barré Syndrome, convulsions, paresis, neuralgia, paresthesia, syncope, oculogyric crisis

Skin and subcutaneous tissue disorders:
Erythematous skin reactions (including generalized, multiform or localized pruritus, or non-specific rash)

Vascular disorders:
Vasculitis with transient renal involvement

7 DRUG INTERACTIONS

7.1 Concomitant Use With Other Vaccines

There are no data to assess the concomitant administration of FLUAD with other vaccines. If FLUAD is to be given at the same time as other injectable vaccine(s), the vaccine should be administered at different injection sites.

Do not mix FLUAD with any other vaccine or any other syringe.

7.2 Concomitant Use With Immunosuppressive Therapies

Immunosuppressive use or concomitant therapies may reduce the immune response to FLUAD.

8 USE IN SPECIFIC POPULATIONS

8.1 Pregnancy

Pregnancy Category C: A reproductive and developmental toxicity study has been performed in rabbits with a dose level that was approximately 15 times the human dose based on body weight. The study revealed no evidence of impaired female fertility or harm to the fetus due to FLUAD. There are, however, no adequate and well-controlled studies in pregnant women. Because animal reproduction studies are not always predictive of human response, this vaccine should be used during pregnancy only if clearly needed.

In a reproductive and developmental toxicity study, the effect of FLUAD on embryo-fetal and post-natal development was evaluated in pregnant rabbits. Animals were administered FLUAD by intramuscular injection twice prior to gestation during the period of organogenesis (gestation day 7) and later in pregnancy (gestation day 28). 0.5 mL (45 mcg HA/strain) was approximately 15 fold the dose relative to the adult human dose based on body weight. No adverse effects on maternal, female fertility, pregnancy, embryo-fetal development, or post-natal development were observed. There were no vaccine-related fetal malformations or other evidence of teratogenesis.

8.4 Pediatric Use

The safety and effectiveness of FLUAD in the pediatric population has not been established.

8.5 Geriatric Use

Safety and immunogenicity of FLUAD have been assessed in adults ≥ 65 years of age and older. (See Adverse Reactions (6.1) and Clinical Studies (14))

WIZ FACTS

Set a new career high in points (30) and tied his career high of five threes on DEC 30 on 1/16

Had 20 15+ point games off the Wizards' bench this season, the most by a Washington player on the bench since 2000

Moved from New Orleans to Richmond, TX, outside of Houston following Hurricane Katrina when he was in fourth grade

"My victory was finding the help I needed to feel human again." When Jason left the military, his hyper-vigilance left him feeling that nowhere was safe. Today, with support from DAV, he's learning to live with his PTSD. DAV helps veterans of every generation to get the benefits they've earned– helping more than one million veterans each year in life-changing ways. Support more victories for veterans. Go to DAV.org.

FULFILLING OUR PROMISE TO THE MEN AND WOMEN WHO SERVED

Command.

One of the most awe inspiring words in the English language, signifying leadership and the courage to take responsibility for the lives and security of others.

Your single-minded dedication to keeping our country safe inspires us to design and manufacture the most reliable main reduction gears possible, including the MRGs for the DDG, LPD, and LHA ship classes.

We know that failure is not an option. Not for you, not for us.

A COLLEGE DEGREE ISN'T THE ONLY THING YOU'LL EARN.

While you're in the U.S. Air Force, you'll get perks that most people don't get with their ordinary jobs. Perks like automatic enrollment in the Community College of the Air Force, which leads to one of our 67 associate's degrees. We also offer 100-percent tuition assistance, 30 days of vacation with pay and much more. So while you're putting yourself as a new Airman and earning a degree in a competitive field, you're also being paid. Now that's a perk that doesn't get offered in other lines of work.

PROTECT YOUR BEST PLAYER

Protection on any field is vital. When your most valuable piece of equipment is not properly secured, lives are at stake. ECS Rackmount cases have been providing unparalleled protection for both military and commercial applications since 1954. We invented the 19-inch Rackmount. We perfected the Rackmount container. We know and understand the importance of protection. We'll gladly take the hits so the real MVP can shine when it needs to. That's what we do. That's who we are.

MISSION STATEMENT

EDUCATION & SCHOLARSHIPS

TIMELIST WITH THE WIZARDS
In conjunction with the NBA's year round league-wide initiatives head to schools, which promotes the values of reading and writing and encourages families and adults to read regularly with children, the Wizards hold reading timeout at local elementary schools, libraries, and community venues to help promote the importance of literacy and a good education. Wizards players, coaches, and alumni take a timeout to read to area youth while engaging their imagination and hopefully fostering a lifelong love of reading and learning.

DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. CELEBRATION
In celebration of Dr. King, the Wizards produced a special reading of Dr. King's famous speech in Washington, "I Have a Dream," featuring players, local community leaders and celebrities. In addition to recognizing Dr. King on his day of observance, the Wizards will host a special group of students on a visit to the site Dr. King read his in Washington, DC.

CELEBRATING BLACK HISTORY MONTH
In the month of February the Washington Wizards team up with students to educate them on and promote the accomplishments of influential and local African Americans in history. During at home games in the month of February the Wizards honor prominent African American leaders for their civic contributions, professional accomplishments as well as their leadership.

STEM FOCUSED WIZARDS 101
Wizards team employees serve as reading mentors throughout the school year to students at a local elementary school. Employees volunteer one hour out of the week to read with a student. At the conclusion of the program the Wizards host a reading rally congratulating and honoring those students who read their written over reading goal.

MILITARY & VETERANS AFFAIRS

SALUTE TO SERVICE
In conjunction with the NBA's league for troops initiative, Wizards players, coaches, alumni, mascot and Wizards fans host wounded warriors, their families and medical care providers at an open practice/shoot in Verizon Center honoring and thanking them for their service to our country. Flowers, coaches, and many more serve as celebrity ushers, bartenders and chef for this afternoon and the stars of the day are our military personnel.

SERVICES & KEY
In our efforts to support military and veterans, during the holiday season the Wizards team up with a local non-profit to provide a way to decorate the Walter Reed Hospital Unit on Fort Belvoir, a military base, issue officials and employees to their friends in hospital, encouraging to bring smiles to those soldiers and their families that must remain on base throughout the holiday season.

HOMELESSNESS & HUNGER

WIZARDS & NBC 4 FOOD 4 FAMILIES
Each season the Wizards join Telemundo with NBC 4 for a day long food drive campaign, held at the I Street entrance of the Verizon Center. Fans are encouraged to donate non-perishable canned food items and make monetary donations throughout the day. All proceeds go to the preparation of over 5,000 Thanksgiving Day meal baskets for families throughout the Washington DC metropolitan area.

WIZARDS ANNUAL TRUCK DRIVING DAY ACTION
Team members, coaches and employees prepare and distribute meal baskets at a local food bank which benefits over three hundred families a season. Each basket consist of a turkey, accompanied by canned goods, mac and cheese and desserts.

CHILDHOOD OBESITY & HUNGER

NATIONAL NBA YOUTH FITNESS
The Wizards join the NBA, their NBA team, local schools, and recreation centers throughout the area educating youth and adults about the importance of exercising and eating healthy. Team members consist of Wizards dancers, team strength, and conditioning coach, a nutritionist and well known local living mascot, Q-Wiz.

CAPITAL ONE ARENA is a [illegible] multi-purpose sports and entertainment venue, owned and operated by Monumental Sports & Entertainment, in the Penn Quarter neighborhood of Downtown Washington, D.C. The arena is home to the NBA's Washington Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals, the WNBA's Washington Mystics, AHL's Washington Valor and the NCAA's Georgetown Hoyas men's basketball teams.

boasting an average of 200 events per year, Capital One Arena is the heart of an $80.3 billion redevelopment that began 17 years ago when the arena was built and opened on Dec. 2, 1997. Since then, the privately financed arena has hosted 42.8 million people and more than 3,000 events.

The surrounding neighborhood throughout the years has been rejuvenated by a plethora of restaurants, condominiums and businesses, making the seventh Street corridor an entertainment destination.

In June 2010, Ted Leonsis became the majority owner of Capital One Arena and Monumental Sports & Entertainment (MSE), and includes ownership of the NHL Washington Wizards, the NHL Washington Capitals, AHL Washington Mystics and Baltimore Brigade, the WNBA Washington Mystics and NCAA Capital Monumental Sports & Entertainment also manages partner Capitals Iceplex, the training facility for the Washington Capitals, and Eaglebank Arena at George Mason University. In January 2013, MSE launched Monumental Network, a digital platform that serves as the hub for the region's sports and entertainment news.

As an arena in the heart of downtown Washington, D.C., Capital One Arena has hosted a multitude of high-profile events in its history, ranging from the 1998 Stanley Cup Final to the NBA 2008 and WNBA 2002, 2007, 2019 All-Star games to the 2003 World Figure Skating Championships, the 2006 ACC Tournament, the first and second rounds of the NCAA Division I men's basketball tournament (1999, 2002, 2006) as well as the second and third rounds (2018), the East Regional Round (2006, 2012) and the 2006 NCAA Frozen Four men's hockey championship. In 2016 the arena will host the ACC Tournament for the second time. In 2017 the arena will host the Big Ten Tournament for the first time and in 2018 the 400 Tournament for the first time.

Entertainment at the arena would not be complete without concerts and family shows ranging from all-time greats to current-day chart-topping artists. In the arena's 19 year history of the arena some of the artists who have roamed the halls and mastered the stage at Verizon Center include U2, Lady Gaga, Madonna, Coldplay, The Three Tenors, Barbra Streisand, Bon Jovi, Prince, Tim McGraw & Faith Hill, Beyonce, the Rolling Stones, Nine Inch Nails, Usher, Kanye West, Jay-Z, Rihanna, Pearl Jam, Justin Timberlake, Neil Diamond and Kenny Chesney, Taylor Swift, Usher, Disney on Ice and more!

In terms of history, only two events have taken place each year at Capital One Arena since it opened, as well as each of the past 40+ years dating back to the old Capital Centre arena, making them the longest-running events between both buildings: the Harlem Globetrotters (1971) and the Washington International Horse Show (1976).

Located within the arena are 194 luxury suites, eight loge boxes, a high-definition center-hung scoreboard, an indoor basketball practice facility and nine dressing rooms. The arena offers a variety of concession stands and restaurants with menu choices ranging from pizza at Papa John's to donuts at Dunkin' Donuts. Additional areas fare includes hot dogs, crab cakes, chicken fingers and deli sandwiches, vegetarian, vegan and gluten-free options are also available.

Other amenities in the arena include the private Owners Club, the private Acela Club restaurant for club members, wayward Jose Cuervo Players Club, Budweiser Brew House, Miller Lite Lounge, Draft Zone Rooftop Lounge, The Greene Turtle Sports Bar & Grille, Team Store and MGA Fitness and Living Salon.

DAVE JOHNSON

Play-By-Play Announcer

The 2008-09 season marks Dave Johnson's 22nd consecutive season as the voice of the Wizards on the Washington Wizards Radio Network.

Along with Glenn Consor, Johnson brings Wizards fans to life on the radio with colorful, detailed descriptions and his signature call, "It's Elvis", as big shots from Strasova. The broadcast is highly interactive with Johnson and Consor reaching out to listeners through twitter in virtual. Has become known as the #WizBizParty. Johnson is one of the most recognizable broadcasters in the nation's capital and also serves as the morning anchor and Senior Sports Director on top-rated WTOP (103.5 FM). During a 22-year career at WTOP, Johnson has won multiple awards as best sportscaster in Washington D.C. and an Edward R. Murrow award for best writing.

In addition Johnson can frequently be seen on television as an anchor on NBC 4 and ABC 7 Sports Washington and handles the play-by-play of Major League Soccer's D.C. United. Johnson previously served as anchor on Fox 5 DC and was a sideline reporter for the Washington Capitals on Home Team Sports (now RSN: Sports Washington).

Among Johnson's other career highlights is an Emmy award for his work as the host of the NHL Washington Capitals Hall Of Fame induction show, an extensive play-by-play resume of college football, college basketball and lacrosse, Johnson has also served as a fill-in on Washington Capitals and Redskins radio broadcasts and was the voice of Naval Academy sports from 1987-1992.

A 2000 inductee into the Virginia DC Soccer Hall of Fame, Johnson has broadcast soccer on television for over 20 years, including work on ESPN and FOX Sports. Johnson also served as the play-by-play voice for the 2006 FIFA World Cup on FOX radio, for whom he called over 20 matches, including the World Cup Final in Berlin.

A graduate of Towson University, Dave and his wife, Diana, live in Annapolis, MD. Their son, Patrick is a freshman at the University of Delaware.

GLENN CONSOR

Color Analyst

The 2008-09 season marks Glenn Consor's 15th season as the color analyst and post-game call-in show host on the Washington Wizards Radio Network alongside 22-year play-by-play veteran Dave Johnson. Consor brings over two decades of experience covering the Wizards to the booth.

After 25 years covering the Wizards for various media outlets most recently for NBC Sports Washington as an analyst on the network's pre-game show, Consor added a new perspective of watching the Wizards to his resume during the 2007-08 season. Previously from 1988-90 Consor was a scout for the Wizards franchise and Indiana Pacers.

In addition to his work with the Wizards, Consor has served as a basketball analyst for MSNBC, Home Team Sports, ESPN's regional college basketball broadcasts, Sports 1a 980, WestWood One's coverage of the NCAA Tournament, and Comcast SportsNet's college basketball broadcasts. Consor is a former on-monumental sports network and provides periodic wizards analysis for NBC Sports Washington as well, and served as Wizards Camp Director in the summer of 2000 for their youth basketball camps.

In his playing days, Consor starred for four years for Hall of Fame coach Bob Wade at Bucknell University, before playing professionally in Israel. Originally from Hastings Queens, New York, Consor currently resides in Rockville, Maryland with his wife, Wang, and their sons, Jeremy, and Corey.

STEVE

With 40 years of broadcasting experience, including a quarter-century in the Western Capital, Steve Buckhantz is one of the longest-tenured sportscasters in the Washington area. A five-time Emmy award winner, including the honor for regular play-by-play in 2004, Buckhantz is in his 20th season as the television voice of the Wizards on Comcast SportsNet.

Buckhantz's dramatic game calls have crept into ESPN sports lexicon. "Stagger," "Buckhantzaker," "Iten Rebellion," all are heard regularly on sports highlight shows around the country.

Buckhantz is a native of Washington, DC, born in the District and raised in nearby Arlington, VA. He attended Washington-Lee High School and his education continued at James Madison University in Harrisonburg, VA, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Communication Arts. In 2005, Buckhantz was honored with JMU's Distinguished Alumni Award.

Following four years broadcasting JMU basketball games on radio, Buckhantz made the transition into television at ABC affiliate WHSV-TV in Harrisonburg, where his workload ran from sports and weather. His TV career then took him to WRCB in Chattanooga, TN, WTVR in Richmond, VA and WSB in Atlanta, GA, before returning in 1984 to his hometown and the fledgling WTTG-TV where he was the sports director and lead sports anchor for nearly 14 years. Buckhantz' play-by-play work also included the "NFL on Fox" used on WTTG was part of that network's inaugural season televising professional football. From 1994-97 Buckhantz was the radio play-by-play voice of the US Olympic Academy Football Team. In 2005, Buckhantz was inducted into The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences National Chapter Silver Circle, honoring those who have made significant contributions to the broadcast industry over the span of 25 years or more in the Nations Capital region.

Buckhantz is involved in numerous charitable events in the Washington area, and for the past 16 years has been the spokesperson for the Steve Buckhantz/TD Jake Celebrity Golf Tournament, which to-date has raised over three million dollars for pediatric research at the Children's Hospital in Memphis, TN.

KARA
LAWSON

The 2008-09 WNBA campaign marks the second for Kara Lawson as primary analyst for Washington Wizards games. A native of the Washington, D.C., area and a former member of the Washington Mystics and University of Tennessee Lady Vols, Lawson has enjoyed college and professional basketball for 14 years.

Before joining MSCHN's team, Lawson was a longtime ESPN game and studio analyst for men's and women's college basketball and the NBA. In more than one she currently serves. On Jan. 17, 2007, she became the first female analyst for a nationally televised NBA game which coincidentally featured the Wizards.

As a player, Lawson earned numerous accolades at the professional, international, college and high school levels. She spent 14 seasons in the WNBA, appearing in 331 games for Sacramento, Washington and the Connecticut Sun from 2002 to 2015. She put the exclamation on the championship in 2003, was a 2003 WNBA All-Star and was the recipient of the Kim Perrot Sportsmanship Award in 2006. She spent her final two seasons, 2014 and 2015, with the Mystics. Lawson represented the United States in 16 international games in tournaments, including the Olympics, FIBA World Cup of Basketball, FIBA Americas Championship and World University Games. She was a member of the team that captured the gold medal at the 2006 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing. Overall, Lawson earned five gold medals, two silver medals and a bronze medal in various competitions as a member of the USA Women's National Team.

At the University of Tennessee, Lawson played for legendary coach Pat Summitt. During her collegiate career, Lawson led the Lady Vols to four Southeastern Conference (SEC) regular season titles, five SEC tournament championships and three Final Four appearances. Among her many academic and athletic honors, Lawson was a four-time SEC and two-time All-American selection, SEC Academic All-America® and three-time academic All-SEC selection. She was also a recipient of the 2008 Woody Hayes National Scholar-Athlete Award.

Born in Alexandria, Va., Lawson is a graduate of West Springfield (Va.) High School, where she led the Spartans to consecutive Virginia Class AAA state basketball championships in 1998 and was named the Gatorade High School Player of the Year and the Washington Post All-Met Player of the Year. She is one of four Virginia All-Met honorees.

Lawson is active in the community and an advocate for fitness and personal health issues. She is a member of former First Lady Michelle Obama's Let's Move Campaign and actively supports several charitable organizations, including the Alzheimer's Association, American Cancer Society and Alive for the Cure.

WASHINGTON BULLETS ★ WIZARDS ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Washington Bullets and Wizards Alumni Association was created in 2010 as a way to honor the proud past of the organization. The goal of the association is to reconnect former players with one another as well as with Bullets & Wizards fans through appearances, events and community outreach. The Alumni Association has over 70 active members and is led by Executive Director and member of the 1978 Bullets championship team, Bob Dandridge. For more information about the alumni association or to schedule an appearance with an alumnus, please visit washingtonwizards.com.
